Farm Bureau Firmly Resolved to Stop Present Selling Conditions.

In hopes of securing harmony and efficient administration for a successful cooperative milk marketing agency the American Farm Bureau federation is going to take a firm hand in the affairs of the Chicago Cooperative Milk Producers' association. Committees are to be named by March 10 from the farm bureau, the marketing company and from the association itself. The officials are expected to meet this week.

Steps to Untangle Matters
Hugh C. Hemmingsway, Rock county secretary and Henry Wieland, Newark, attended the Chicago conference held at the Chicago hotel.

It was declared that the problem of marketing milk was of so much importance that the farmers in the Chicago district that some concerted steps were needed to straighten out the tangles.

There was no argument allowed during the moribund session of the producers' association. The delegates demanded a constructive program without a faction fight. The farm bureau will make a thorough study of the milk market situation and then meeting with the other committees attempt to work out a definite program.

Stop Factional Disputes
"The farm bureau is big enough and strong enough to stop the factional disputes and I look for something successful to come out of the coming conference," declares Secretary H. C. Hemmingsway. "It is not a case of who is right or not, but rather an attempt to obtain a good market for the farmers and regain the farmers' confidence. I understand the producers' association refused to appoint a committee even if they do not the bureau is going ahead with its constructive plans after a thorough investigation by men versed in marketing and selling dairy products."

NEW PLAN OF NAVY
RESERVE PROPOSEDReorganization Would Include
Section for Merchant
Marine.

Washington.—Complete reorganization of the naval reserve is proposed in a tentative bill prepared by the navy department and forwarded to officials of the naval reserve association by Secretary Denham. The bill, before it is presented to congress, included in the proposed act is the provision for a merchant marine reserve section and for certain merchant ships to be a reserve.

The bill would abolish all existing naval or marine corps reserve and establish a naval reserve as a "component part" of the navy consisting of three classes, the first reserve, the merchant marine naval reserve and the volunteer naval reserve.

All present members of the various classes of reserve, both officers and men, and the naval militia would be for four years, while officers would hold their commissions "during the pleasure of the president."

Recruits of the first two classes could be ordered to duty by the president in war or emergency, but in time of peace could be called out only with their own consent except for prescribed training. The volunteer reserve would be liable for war duty only.

Washington.—Canada today made her first move to forestall unfavorable action by the American Congress in tariff relations between the two countries.

Mr. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance, and one of the men who negotiated the ill-fated reciprocity agreement of 1911, has taken up with the department of state here through the good offices of the Canadian embassy.

the question of arriving at an understanding on reciprocal trade.

Mr. Fielding himself does not discuss his visit preferring to make his inquiries informally and without publicity. But the situation which brings Mr. Fielding here is of the greatest importance to the relations of the two countries and is comparable indeed to the crisis of 1911.

Mr. Fielding's visit follows the precedent of another Republican president, William McKinley, offered Canada the hand of friendship through a reciprocity trade agreement. The American congress rejected that agreement, passing a law providing for reciprocity but through a series of misunderstandings inside Canada, the Canadian parliament failed to do its part.

PLAN WRECKING OF
BIG NAVAL CAMPExpected Appropriation Cut
Will Reduce Great Lakes to Skeleton.

Great Lakes, Ill.—The middle-west, may lose its only big naval establishment, the naval training station here as a result of the successful conclusion of the disarmament conference at Washington.

Wreckers have already nearly completed destruction of the vast war time camps through which nearly 100,000 embryo seamen passed during 1917 and 1918, and now as a result of the completed reduction in naval forces, the permanent station may be abandoned and training camp operated on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Naval officers here expect the appropriation for the fiscal year under the $400,000 provided for the present year and probably only enough to provide men to guard the $5,000,000 worth of government property at the Great Lakes. The navy department and provide officers for the two naval schools here, one turning out aviation mechanics and the other radio operators, would require about 700 officers and men and an estimated appropriation of between $250,000 and $350,000.

Total abandonment is opposed by officers here because the middle-west furnishes a large part of the nation's naval forces and the ninth district headquarters here has more responsibility than any other district in the country. More men were trained here during the war than at all other training camps combined.

Salt water states do not produce as many ships as the prairie states of the middle-west, officers say. There is no place on a modern battleship for the old fashioned salt water seaman and the pleasure of the prairie states has been given way to highly skilled mechanics, whose peace time training in western factories and foundries fill them for the specialized service of an electric-operated floating fort.

Landis, who is now in the city, has been suggested by several admirers as soon as it became known that he was about to resign from the bench. "The statement settles the question which was raised recently, as to whether or not Judge Landis would consent to become a candidate in the next mayoralty race," his friend expressed in the last paragraph of a letter to a friend.

"This is my first day out of a job," said the letter, "and I am deeply content."

Mr. Sutter is said to be writing a book and if it meets with the desired reception from a publisher and if other contingent matters reach realization, Jeffries may begin a career as an evangelist, according to the story.

"My desire is to bring religion closer to the hearts of the men of today," Jeffries is quoted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London.—Either an early general election or the resignation of Premier Lloyd George will be the upshot of the present political crisis. It is generally believed here.

The apparently widening breach in the conservative party together with the consistent gain in strength of the liberals under former Premier Asquith, the laboring of the party in the recent bye elections, have forced these alternatives on the premier.

Mr. Lloyd George is understood to have told the cabinet yesterday that he would resign if the younger men of the party, especially Mr. Chamberlain, and Lord Curzon, leader of the conservative secessionists, who recently attacked the premier in the house of commons, insist that he will step down from office.

Mr. Lloyd George's tactics have met with disfavor among a considerable section of the party, especially the laboring of the party in the recent bye elections, have forced these alternatives on the premier.

Kenosha.—"Find out where Emil Wankatka was at 12 o'clock on the night Charles Pacini was shot and you will know who killed Pacini."

This message, contained in an anonymous letter to former Sheriff Joseph Meyer, provided the first clue to the evidence which charged Emil Wankatka with the killing of Kenosha's movie king, according to information given out here Thursday.

Wankatka is now in jail here waiting arraignment, while Emil Lang, already convicted of the crime, is serving a 20 year term in the state prison.

Trials Seen
In investigating the anonymous letter as to the effect that Pacini while motoring with a young lady on the night before the shooting had been trailed by a man of Wankatka's build.

The Pacini case has been held and a man named Charles Connolly, according to his testimony in the Lang trial, had seen the trio. Later, he had gone to the Wankatka home to see Wankatka's wife and had put an end to the investigation when he declared positively that she was not the woman who was in the car.

Mr. Fielding, the anonymous letter at the time of the killing, a report to the effect that Pacini while motoring with a young lady on the night before the shooting had been trailed by a man of Wankatka's build.

Wankatka's friends maintain that, at the time of the killing, he was a member of a crew piloting a boat on Green Bay and that he can prove a perfect alibi.

CONGRESS FROWNS
ON RECIPROCITYCanadian Envoy Told Leaders
Do Not Favor Trade
Pact.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington.—William S. Fielding, who came to Washington several days ago in the interest of a trade treaty between the United States and Canada, has been advised by congressional leaders that congress does not look with favor at this time on such an agreement.

Mr. Fielding has been in conference in subject with Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee, who today expressed unalterable opposition to a putting into force of the 1911 reciprocity act.

Opposition also was voiced by Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee.

"Canada has only agricultural products to send to us and the United States under such an agreement," said Senator McCumber, "and we have an exportable surplus of such commodities."

The finance committee chairman and other members of the committee expressed the opinion that the reciprocity law passed by congress in 1911 was a dead letter, although never formally repealed.

Senator McCumber has made a definite offer to Canada, which that country had specifically refused to accept and that, since then, tariff legislation had been enacted without reference to the 1911 act.

Repeal of the law is provided in the so-called permanent tariff bill, passed by the house last year, and not until the agreement by the finance committee.

Declares He Was Not Insane When
He Killed Thielen

BULLETIN

Elkhorn.—Possibility that an insanity or not guilty plea made by Fred Becholdt, Portland Ind., attorney sent from that city by Jesse, brother of Fred McBride, confessed murder of Edward Thielen, would postpone the settlement of the case was seen here Thursday afternoon. McBride was brought into court, apparently ready to plead guilty. Becholdt arrived on the same train which brought Judge Fritz from Milwaukee. The prisoner was then taken back to the jail and Becholdt was allowed to confer with him.

By Staff Correspondent.)

Elkhorn.—In a statement to District Attorney Easton Johnson, Fred McBride, 24, Akron, O., youth, former farm hand on the George Taft farm, and alleged to have confessed to slaying Edward Thielen, Racine, his companion, Thursday morning, said he was ready to pay the penalty. He said:

"I am glad I was found out and am ready to pay the penalty. I am glad the strain is over. I want to plead guilty and shall ask to get my sentence. I don't want a lawyer or an insanity plea. I am not insane. I planned for two days to kill Thielen and knew what I was doing every minute. I don't want any money to any more trouble or expense."

McBride was to be brought before Judge Oscar M. Fritz in Walworth county circuit court at about 2:30 p. m.

At 1:30 p. m. the court room and corridors were filled to overflowing with people, to see the dramatic conclusion of the cold-blooded crime.

Reports that an attorney, sent from Portland, Ind., by McBride's brother, Jesse, would stage a fight in court on grounds of insanity, stirred the curiosity of the county and the arrival of each train was awaited with expectancy. Up to noon Thursday, neither Fred Becholdt, the Portland attorney, nor any other lawyer put in an appearance to aid McBride and the only train arriving before the opening of the court was at 2:22 p. m., on which Judge Fritz came from Milwaukee.

It was felt a trial would only cause unnecessary expense, due to the confession made on the train by McBride to Detective Wellington W. Paragat, Whitewater, vice president of the Russell Detective agency, and an affidavit was prepared and made again later before District Attorney Johnson and District Attorney Easton Johnson, Walworth county.

Spends Quiet Night.
McBride, the sole occupant of a cell in the Walworth county jail, passed a quiet night Wednesday, the fifth night he has been confined there, and according to Sheriff White, was not apparently perturbed. May Cut Army to 115,000 in
New Measure

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington.—Reduction of the size of the regular army to 115,000 enlisted men has been tentatively agreed upon by the sub-committee which is drafting the army appropriation bill, it became known Thursday. The present strength of the army is approximately 137,000 men.

The reduction, if authorized by congress, would not be effective until July 1, and would be brought about by a decrease in the appropriation for pay.

It was held possible the figure might be raised to 125,000. The sub-committee expects to complete its draft of the bill within a few days.

War department estimates, submitted to congress by the budget bureau, called for a pay appropriation sufficient for an army of 150,000 enlisted men and 14,000 officers.

Agree to Eliminate Cash
Feature of Soldier Bonus

Washington.—Unanimous agreement to eliminate the cash feature of the soldiers' bonus except in the case of men whose adjusted service pay would not exceed $50, was reported Thursday by the special sub-committee of republicans members of the house ways and means committee to which the whole bonus question was referred Wednesday.

In lieu of cash for the other service men, it was agreed to add a new provision to the bonus bill under which the men accepting adjusted service certificates could borrow immediately on those certificates from banks a sum equal to 50 per cent of the total adjusted service pay computed at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for foreign service.

New Loan Provision

An official statement of the agreement of the sub-committee was issued by Chairman Fordney. The agreement provides:

The elimination of the cash feature of the bonus bill, where the veterans are entitled to more than $50 adjusted service pay, but adding a new loan provision to the adjusted service certificate title which will enable holders of such certificates to borrow from any national bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of any state, 50 per cent of the sum of the adjusted service pay prior to Sept. 30, 1925.

This date was fixed because Article of the bill, as originally drafted by the committee, provided for a larger percentage of loan by the government and has not been changed by the sub-committee.

No New Tax Burden
Chairman Fordney said this plan was expected to meet with general approval, since it enabled soldiers who may be in need to obtain cash (Continued on page 5).

Dixon, Ill.—Water from "frenzied" Rock river rising slowly during the night flooded into the mills at the city gas plant, early Thursday and stopped further manufacture. With less than a day's supply of gas in the holder, the city faces a complete failure of the furnace, many business institutions which are depending on gas for fuel including the city's newspaper, may be forced to suspend operations before the day is over.

After midnight there was a split in the gorge here, the water and foot bridge becoming the head of a new gorge which now extends up the river several miles, while gradual compact of the ice below made an open space in the river.

Officials of the utilities company said it might be a week or 10 days after the flood subsides before the gas plant can be in condition to operate. The water was rising steadily, and was forced further into the inundated residential districts of the west part of the city and many families were forced to vacate their homes, bringing the total of those driven out since Wednesday to over half a hundred.

SOUTH JANESVILLE LIQUOR CASE UP

Worthington Takes Parker Putnam for Alleged Sale—Trial March 13.

Things moved swiftly Wednesday afternoon with the result that Parker Putnam is under arrest and out on $1,000 bail on a charge of selling liquor at the brick hotel South Janesville. The evidence, the issuing of the warrant, the search and arrest, arraignment and preliminary examination all took place in the short space of two days.

At 3 o'clock Ernest Fuller, assisted like a railroad switchman, went into the South Janesville hotel and cafe. He alleges that Putnam sold him a drink of whiskey for 50 cents and then purchased a half pint bottle for $3.

Place Is Searched
At 3 o'clock the complaint was made by Deputy Sheriff Roy Worthington and the warrant issued by Judge Charles Lange, at the request of District Attorney S. G. Dunneville.

At 3:45 o'clock Putnam was arrested and taken to the jail. A search of the place. Not a drop was found in the building.

At 4 o'clock Putnam was arraigned before Justice Charles Lange, and on pleading not guilty, requested an examination.

When shall we set the hearing? asked the court of the district attorney.

"Right now," replied Attorney Dunneville, who put Fuller and Sheriff Worthington on the stand.

The testimony was completed at 4:15 o'clock, and a minute later the court ruled that Putnam should be held for trial on March 13. Bail was set at $1,000.

At 4:30 o'clock Putnam was at the county jail, furnishing his bail.

"They have been selling booze down there right along," claimed the district attorney in demanding high bail and two sureties on the bail bond.

UTILITIES REPORT TO STATE; EXPECT MORE INQUIRIES

Madison—Public utilities Wednesday submitted their annual financial reports to the railroad commission, showing the condition of their business during the year 1931. Upon the basis of these reports further investigations are expected into utility rates within the state, which have been reduced in a number of cities recently.

Whenever the finances of utilities show that there is opportunity for possible reduction without affecting a fair return on the investment, the commission institutes an investigation on its own motion.

Reduction in rates have been ordered by the commission within the past few months in Stoughton, Fond du Lac, La Crosse, Chippewa Falls, Janesville, Kenosha, Racine, South Milwaukee, Kenosha, Cudahy, and Green Bay. Decisions are pending in Milwaukee, Waukesha and Janesville.

The rate cuts in the cities mentioned have all been for gas charges.

BABY CONTEST TO BE FAIR FEATURE

Youngsters Up to 5 Years Old Eligible—County Nurse in Charge.

Here is where his royal highness—the baby—is going to win blue ribbons and cash.

The healthiest babies in Rock county are going to be selected at the Janesville fair, to be held Aug. 8, 9, 10 and 11. The fair is going to stage a novel exhibit, the baby contest being a part of the Rock county health exhibit.

Under the direction of Miss Anna Luetscher, county nurse, the exhibit will be held in the education building. Good prizes are to be offered by the fair board.

A conference was held Wednesday by the county nurse, Superintendent of Schools O. D. Antislaid and Secretary Harry Newman. Miss Luetscher is to have complete charge of the health exhibit, which is to be one of the main features of the fair.

Classes Up to Five Years
Six prizes will be offered for the healthiest children in three classes, the first being for those under one year of age; the second, from one to three, and the third from three to five years of age. The children are to be given a thorough examination by the public nurses, and scores tabulated during the first three days of the fair. The prizes to be awarded on the last day for the healthiest children.

In addition there are prizes for the best posters relating to the cure and prevention of contagious diseases, and prizes for the best exhibits from the schools. There are four classes in this contest, one for the fifth and sixth city graded schools and seventh and eighth grades. The same prizes will be duplicated for the rural school pupils in the same grades.

The rural school pupils have a chance to compete for a cash prize for the best fly trap.

All the public nurses in the state will co-operate in the county health exhibit.

"We have left it to the county nurse to make the health exhibit a big feature of the fair," stated Secretary Newman. "We consider public health an important subject, deserving more attention than it has had in the past. Liberal premiums will be offered."

New Heat Plan for Almshouse

Plumbers and steamfitters are at work at the county farm this month installing radiators in the 40-room almshouse. Decision having been reached recently to dispense with the old system of heating the building by the fan system. Radiation has already been provided for the dining room and other large rooms, while all the smaller rooms will be equipped with radiators by the end of the month, it is expected.

YANKEE GIRL TELLS LONDON HOW TO BE ATTRACTIVE CITY

London—An American has been awarded the top gulf prize offered by the Pall Mall Gazette for the best suggestions on how to make London "the magnet of the world."

Miss Alice Young of Milwaukee, Ind., the winner, based her suggestions on what is done in America to make towns attractive. She advocated among other things:

"Brighter, cleaner stations with good warm waiting rooms and good restaurants. First impressions count."

"Electricity all railways within 20 miles of London."

"Central heating on American principle, or gas fires or smokeless fuel or coke."

"More attractive window dressing. Hotels allowed popular entertainment and dancing at meals at a popular price. Light wines to be sold at the house."

"Eliminate refuse on streets."

CANADA SEEKS CHANGE IN TARIFF TO HELP FARMER

go through with the 1911 agreement. Reciprocity Law of 1911.

Curiously enough the act of 1911 was never repealed and remained on the statute books of the American Congress. The House of Representatives once passed a bill proposing a repeal but it never passed the American Senate.

So if Canada should do now what she failed to do in 1911, the reciprocity agreement would promptly go into effect between Canada and the United States.

Under the terms of the original understanding each country was to pass concurrent legislation and it is hardly likely that the Canadian parliament would take action if it appeared that the American Congress might repeal the reciprocity act as indeed is now proposed in the Fordney tariff bill. That bill would automatically repeal all previous tariff arrangements but would empower the president to negotiate new reciprocity agreements with any nation.

Canada's viewpoint is that it would be far better to make an exception of the case of 1911 and leave it on the statute books so that the parliament at Ottawa might put it into effect than negotiate a new agreement involving the response of all sorts of questions.

The desire for reciprocity in Canada is now intense. The farmer group and the Liberal party go hand in hand on that issue and together they control a majority in the Ottawa parliament.

Protection for Wheat Grower
But the viewpoint of the agricultural bloc in the American Congress is bound to be influential. Senator Capper of Kansas, leader of the agricultural bloc, told this correspondent today that he had not had an opportunity to vote the effects of the reciprocity agreement of 1911 but it was likely there would be some opposition from the border states on the northern boundary.

"The wheat growers of Minnesota and North Dakota," said Mr. Capper, "will want protection. They have been asking for it as against Canada and the interests of these states will naturally be our first consideration."

The reciprocity question, however, is not entirely local. It relates closely to the whole question of trade relations between the United States and Canada. Discrimination against Canada would not be swallowed without protest by the Canadian people. Already there has been talk about the necessity of buying goods from countries other than the United States because the Canadian dollar is sold at a discount here. With the improvement in Canadian exchange, however, American business with Canada is bound to improve.

Tariff has changed it. As long as the Democratic administration

PREMIUM DOUBLED FOR FAIR EXHIBITS

Livestock to Be Main Features of Fairs in County.

The Rock county fairs are going to give a greater service to the farmers this year than in any previous period.

Farmers who attend the Janesville and Evansville fairs will obtain more real, practical and solid ideas about stock raising and other similar agricultural problems than are vital than can be gathered in any book. The farmer who goes to the Janesville fair will have a chance to study better cattle, swine and sheep, especially and then poultry.

The Janesville fair board is offering a total of $8,000 in premiums, nearly double that of last year. This is due to the change in the state laws which enable Wisconsin to meet 50 per cent of the total premium list of the fair board. The big feature of the Janesville fair this year will be livestock. The fair board and breed associations are certain that the judging pavilion will be built.

This building will seat more than 1000 people in comfort to watch the judging. It is planned to have nationally famous judges and curing the contests have lectures and demonstrations. It will be a practical way in the judging. Authorities on stock are to be on the judging programs to show types of stock and illustrate points.

It is certain that the Rock county junior livestock clubs will be a big feature at the fairs. More interest is being taken in the various clubs. For one reason more premiums are being offered.

The fair board members from the associations who will visit the farms and urge breeders to show their stock. Many times the best stock is not shown by the owners, who only lack the courage to show their animals.

"We will be able to offer better premiums than ever before," Harry Newman, secretary of the Janesville fair association.

COFFEE POT FIRE BURNS UP TOWN

Wichita Falls, Tex.—Fire starting under a coffee urn at South Bend, Wednesday, practically destroyed all that was left of the town by a disastrous conflagration several months ago.

Insurance was in power at Washington, Canada obtained by the voluntary action of the United States many of the things she wanted under the 1911 reciprocity act but the determination of the Republican party to pass the Fordney bill has changed the whole face of things.

Under the 1911 reciprocity act, for instance, as well as under the Underwood Simmons law, cattle, sheep, wheat, corn and maize, potatoes, cream and cream were duty free. Under the Fordney bill, substantial duties are to be imposed on these products, and the items which are dutiable under the Underwood law but which were to have been admitted free under the reciprocity act are all to have a higher duty.

Canada today buys one dollar and a half of American goods for every dollar bought from Canada by the United States. The Canadian government believes a trade relation as valuable as that deserves reciprocity treatment. Until now men like Samuel McCall of Massachusetts, who had charge of the reciprocity bill in the House of Representatives, have said that "after the result in 1911, the initiative will have to proceed from Canada."

That's why the Canadian minister of finance is here. Whether his mission will succeed depends upon whether the agricultural bloc is willing to stand by the Republican doctrine of Tait and McKinley.

WISCONSIN MAN IS FIRST-KNOWN HUMAN WIRELESS TELEPHONE

Nellsville—Floyd Hanson, a barber in this town, is the first known "radio cymposium," or human ear capable of detecting wireless telephone waves in other.

Hanson has been "hearing things" for several months, sounds for which he could not account. The other night while he was standing on his fiancée's front porch, he suddenly heard strains of orchestra music and soon afterward a familiar opera selection. The girl at his side could hear nothing.

Hanson, disturbed by the occurrence, sought a physician. With several other medical men, the doctor submitted him to wireless tests. Hanson was stationed a block away from the radio phone. A number of phonograph records were then played, and he heard them all distinctly.

RUSSIA IMPORTS SCYTHES

Moscow—Soviet Russia manufactured 1,207,000 scythes and imported 4,300,000 last year. Grain raising is carried on in such a primitive way by the majority of the peasants that the scythe is in general use for harvesting, especially since the shortage of labor-saving machinery here.

Intoxication accounted for 11 of the 25 arrests made by police here during February, while eight automobile drivers were taken for driving too fast. Two were arrested for vagrancy, two for violating city ordinances, one for assault and battery, and one from another city.

Arrests were credited to the following members of the police department: Stein, 8; Case, 8; Morrissey, 4; Lennartz, Chief Newman, Harmon and Champion, 1 each.

The fire record of 25 alarms for February marks a 35 per cent decrease from January, when there were 41 alarms, the highest mark for any one month in the history of the department.

FREE SPEECH AT THE UNIVERSITY.

There is a great how-do-do at the University over the question of "free speech." Whenever a man wants to rip up the government or substitute something else for what we have in America, burn up the Declaration of Independence and spit on the constitution, he swings his arms and shouts that "free speech" is being barred when he is not permitted to take his soap box anywhere he wishes.
Frankly, we do not believe that any student with an ounce of brains is going to be injured as a citizen by listening to stuff of that character. It does seem to be a pitiable waste of time, however, when there are so many real things to do in the world. But President Birge, so long as he is the head of the University and responsible for its conduct, should be the arbiter in whether students waste time on such things or not. Recently there has been a drive on by the parlor-boisists and white-collar anarchists, who, should they ever be called to wear a pair of overalls and do some hard work would probably faint, over the failure to invite some of their kind to an oration of free speech.
We do not believe that President Birge is called upon, in order to have his work of educating the youth complete to the fullest volume, to permit the University to be turned over to every Tom, Dick and Harry who thinks he has a message for the salvation of the world.

WILLIAM IN SEARCH OF A SENATORSHIP.

Many years ago there was a novel by Capt. Marryatt, "Japhet in Search of a Father." But not a chapter in it was so exciting as the hunt William Jennings Bryan has been making for these several years for a nice easy state from which he can be elected senator. He failed in Nebraska to receive the plaudits of his native state. No one called. He had a ranch in Texas and naively said that if invited by the Lone Starers, he would perhaps accept. Then he owned a mountain place in North Carolina and there too, he flirted with the state, tickled her under the chin and spoke honeyed words, but she preferred some one with tar on the heel and sand in his craw. The soughing winds utterly overlooked his euphonious name.
Now he woos the senatorship from the shores of the sea at Miami. But there seems to be only the sad waves and so far Florida has been saying nothing. Out of 130 newspapers in the state of tourists, sure thing gamblers, real estate sharks and alligators, only five have glorified their columns by mentioning the name of the erstwhile warrior from the Platte.

But we have a job here in Wisconsin for William Jennings. He is the greatest expert on Imperialism in captivity. His services as a master exponent of that doctrine and as a natter of that issue are required. He could leap like Jove, full armed, from the Florida Olympus into the combat. With Bill and Bob whooping her up and lambasting Imperialism day and night there would be an increase in the milk supply and state taxes would be reduced. Out-over sand lands would bloom like the fairy fields of Eden and all the waters of the lakes would turn to molten silver, rejoicing with the hand-clapping hills. He would be safe from any attack or investigation. He could be paid from the funds of the non-partisan league and as a lecturer for its doctrines be on easy street. Dear William, we need you.

MILK

The decision of the Farm Bureau to take the milk marketing question in hand and solve it will be gratefully welcomed by many who have been the football of the rival organizations. Southern Wisconsin must recognize that stability of marketing organizations is of the utmost importance in the prosperity of the dairy interests. It ought to be possible to form so effective a marketing arrangement that the uncertainty of the past months could no longer prevail.

Deadly Chemicals Made Useful, Harmless

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington—The conference for the limitation of armaments, recently concluded here, agreed on a treaty ending the use of the gas in warfare and upon chemical warfare generally. Until the senate ratifies this treaty it will not be binding on the United States, of course, and there is strong opposition to ratification from those who contend that troops and ships could be rendered ineffective easily and with far fewer deaths and permanent injuries through the use of chemicals than older weapons of war.

At this time, though, the chemical warfare service is turning its attention to peace time uses of the combinations of chemicals worked out during the war.

Before the war Germany had practically a world monopoly in many chemical lines. So far as the United States is concerned, its new chemical industry, while growing tremendously, is classed as an infant industry. An industrial war between the German chemical houses and American manufacturers is in progress now. This fact has helped to stimulate the Army to finding peace uses for war gases.

Phosgene gas, described as the most effective weapon of this sort devised during the war, is now being used in the manufacture of perfume. It is being converted into a delicate, penetrating and lasting violet perfume which is expected to gain considerable popularity.

In the work of converting chemicals to the uses of peace and industry, the chemical service is cooperating with the treasury department, the department of the interior, the department of agriculture, and the department of commerce, as well as the bureau of standards. One or more cooperative projects with each of these governmental agencies has been undertaken.

With the treasury department there has been taken up the question of fumigating ships, with the idea of making this fumigation more efficient and at the same time safer. At present, hydrocyanic acid gas is used for this purpose. The great trouble with it is that after fumigation it is difficult to determine that the highly poisonous gas has been removed from all parts of the ship. Gas has been removed from all parts of the ship. Deaths now and then occur from some one entering a compartment from which all of the fumigating gas has not been removed.

Then occurred the idea of combining tear gas with the poisonous hydrocyanic acid gas. Cooperative experiments are being conducted with this end in view. Difficulties have arisen, as is usually the case in the experimental work, but there is promise that the public health service of the treasury department soon will have at its command a ship fumigation method much safer to human life than that which has been used.

Phosgene gas to kill rats is being experimented with, too. In one experiment, undertaken with the public health service this gas was used against the rats in the sewall at San Juan, Porto Rico. The experiment was pronounced officially as "of value," as the extermination of rats in seaports is one of the principal means of guarding the country against the entry of plague.

In the extermination undertaken with the department of the interior, the use of the gas mask for industrial purposes is being developed. Close cooperation exists between the bureau of mines and the chemical warfare service. Many ideas of great value in the use of the gas mask in industry have been developed, notably the discovery of "hepatic," which when put in the canister of a gas mask, changes the deadly carbon monoxide gas encountered in mines and about blast furnaces into harmless carbon dioxide.

The use of ammonia in hotels, restaurants, ice plants, and the like for refrigerating purposes has become extensive. Ammonia gas is used in industry under high pressure, and when a leak occurred it was formerly impossible for anyone to enter the room and shut off the valves. The chemical warfare service discovered that silica gel, used in the canister of a gas mask, was adequate protection against ammonia gas. This has proven a great boon to industry, and made an ammonia leak an easily controlled and minor event.

The research work of this service has developed tremendously the knowledge about the production and uses of high grade charcoal. Relatively little had been known about it. One of the uses of this high grade charcoal is in obtaining gasoline from natural gas. Experiments are now under way with the idea of producing charcoal directly from coal, something of immense industrial importance which has never yet been done.

In cooperation with the department of agriculture, chemical experiments are being conducted for the development of new means of destroying animal and bird pests in this country. Tentative projects have been outlined for killing gophers, ground squirrels, blackbirds, and other pests which do millions of dollars of damage to crops every year. Chlorine gas, first used by the Germans at Ypres, has been found efficacious in exterminating gophers.

Cooperative projects are under way to determine what chemical agents are useful for exterminating insect pests and to hit upon the best means for employing them. Several of the most important war gases have given great promise of usefulness in this direction. Partial success has been obtained in finding chemical means of fighting the cotton boll weevil. Experiments with gas bombs to control forest fires in their initial stages were tried, and the information gained has been of benefit to the forest service.

One use to which chemicals are being put is in the eradication of the blister beetle, commonly called the potato bug. These insects make their appearance suddenly, and a reliable insecticide is necessary in order to control them. There are and have been insecticides on the market for years, but the chemical warfare service has experimented along this line with the idea of obtaining an even more reliable means of combatting this pest and one which could be sold at a lower price than usually obtains. It is official that "valuable results have been obtained to date from the actual test of these chemicals on blinks."

For the bureau of standards, the chemical warfare service is cooperating to aid in determining the flow of gas from natural gas fields through the medium of great meters. The apparatus of the chemical warfare service will be used for this purpose.

Chemical means are being used of experiment with to destroy locusts in the Philippine Islands, rats in the sugar cane fields of Hawaii, and the vector of spraying fruit trees from airplanes and in the improvement of the oxygen breathing apparatus in use in mines the world over. One difficulty with this apparatus has been to find something impervious to gasoline vapors, and it is believed that this difficulty soon will be overcome through the perfection of a chemically treated cloth.

Another important development, coming out of the necessity of devising clothing and materials impervious to mustard gas, has been to obtain much material of value in determining methods of water proofing cloth and leather.

This does not pretend to be a survey of all of the commercial and industrial uses to which war chemicals are being put. It is merely an outline, necessarily incomplete.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

FAILURES
Brave the storm and ride the gale!
What if now and then you fail?
What if difficulties rise?
Just ahead the victory lies.
Keep in mind when you're assailed,
Ever onward, ever strive to win.
Trials mark the path of men.
Hope has dawned to set again.
Many a victor, cheered today,
Had to battle with "dismay."
Long before success he knew
He was called a failure, too.
Failures mark the path to fame.
Men must fight through loss and shame
Hurt and heart-ache and distress,
For the glory of success.
Now, center on the goal,
Brave the loss and bear the blow!
What if hope should come and go?
What if failure strikes you now?
Keep the faith and fight anew.
Keep your courage when assailed.
Few succeed who've never failed.

Dear Roy—The other day you mentioned a young lady who asked a drug clerk for some aromatic spirits of kinema. My son, at the age of eight or nine (wrote by the way, was during the war, which made it especially appropriate) asked his mother something in regard to the use of "aromatic spirits of America."—W. Who's Who Today

CHARLES A. RAWSON.

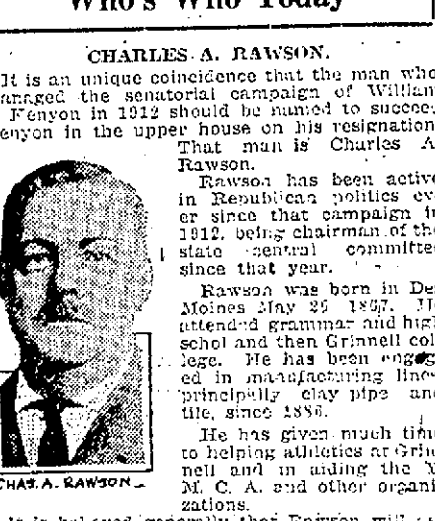

It is an unique coincidence that the man who managed the senatorial campaign of William S. Kenyon in 1912 should be named to succeed Kenyon in the upper house on his resignation. That man is Charles A. Rawson.

Rawson has been active in Republican politics ever since that campaign in 1912, being chairman of the state central committee since that year.

Rawson was born in Des Moines, Iowa, May 25, 1874. He attended grammar and high school and then Grinnell college. He has been engaged in real estate and insurance work, principally in clay pipes and tile, since 1898.

He has given much time to helping athletics at Grinnell and in aiding the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations.

It is believed generally that Rawson will assume the leadership of the farm bloc in the senate. He is a staunch supporter of measures tending to aid the farmers and the marketing of their products.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

"Buddy, Join The Legion!"
Japan has a genre. It is the class of the older statesmen. It is the dead thumb of octogenarianism upon the present. Ultra conservatism always is property and age. Uncle Andrew Melton, secretary of the treasury, is a man of much property. You hear that he is second or third in point of personal wealth in the United States.

Uncle Andrew Melton is head of the American genre. President Harding merely comes up from somewhere but Uncle Andrew Melton is a man of property. He represents and what he thinks always has existed.

The elder statesmen are against the soldier bonus. Uncle Andrew is against it because the war is over and all the values which were in danger and which have been saved are now out of danger. The soldier is an uneconomic force. He is needed when he is needed to preserve the balance and the working power of economic force. They are badly disturbed when a foreign governor general takes control of an occupied territory.

Then all ordinary laws of economic cause and effect go out of office and the soldier is the boy relied upon to keep the home land functioning as it ought to function normally. When he is needed for this economic purpose he is invaluable because, without him all values would go to zero.

If the German soldier had been able to carry through the plans of the German military leaders the German mark would not be a beggar on the door step of financial solvency and if he had been able to the sugar business which was required of him, Uncle Andrew Melton's fortune might be barely equal to a square meal.

The difference between the value of the dollar and the value of the mark is now the sacrifices made by the American soldier. He created that value. If he had not done so it would have no value. The only reason these men of wealth have wealth is because American soldiers determined that depreciated currency should be in Germany and not in the United States.

To whom would Uncle Andrew like to pay a small percentage of his money? To the American soldier who saved him from the German tax collector or to the tax collector? Buddy, join the legion, as the saying is, and have your R and R as impress as a political fact upon the elder generation that it is in luck and much in luck.

TEN YEARS AGO
March 2, 1912—Chinese soldiers are now beyond the control of the government in Peking, and have attacked the royal palace. Janesville debaters met Kenosha and Beloit last night, here and at both of those places, and argued on the woman suffrage question. They won at Beloit and here, losing to the Kenosha team there. The Mid-Winter fair, a very successful event, closes at the village today, and there is now talk of a county fair.

Noted Physician and Author

HERE'S THE CORN
Or if you will adopt properly shaped shoes, and not return to the foot wearing narrow pointed and cramped toes there is no reason why you should grow any more corns.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Question—Last summer I wrote you about my running ear, and you suggested irrigations with saturated boracic solution of boracic acid and drops of saturated alcoholic solution of boracic acid. There is no more running and no discomfort. I thank you, Dr. Brady. (C. G. H.)
Field.
Question—For what condition is spine fluid withdrawn and examined? Does a person who suffers from headache, nervousness, etc., from whom the doctor removes spinal fluid, necessarily have syphilis? Is it important for my family members in contact with such a case.
Answer—Spinal fluid is withdrawn and examined in the diagnosis of meningitis, infantile paralysis (polio-myelitis), syphilis of the spinal cord, and other conditions. Of course, the symptoms you mention would not indicate syphilis.
Question—There's No Such Animal. Question—What would you advise for catarrh of the head, and what would clear my complexion? I am 17 years old, five feet four inches tall and weigh 108 pounds. (A. G.)
Answer—Catarrh is a term that signifies "I don't know what is the matter." So the first thing you should do for it is to find out what is the matter. Any good doctor can examine the nose and throat, by means of a headlight and special instrument, and determine what is the matter, and what treatment may be required. To clear the complexion, use two ounces of oxygen three times a day in low-peced, wide-soled, heavy walking shoes. Use the soap in your circulation and the breeze of youth in your eye.

Dr. Brady will answer all ailments pertaining to health. Only inquiries of general interest, and answers to them, will be published. All letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and stamped. Do not enclose money. Enclosure is enclosed. Address Dr. Wm. Brady, Gazette.

Q. Would it be possible to build a bridge across the Mississippi river near New Orleans? A. T. L.
A. The chief of engineers says it would be possible to build such a bridge, but the plan is not feasible in the case of the new bridge across the Delta. The tremendous expense is justified by the fact that the bridge will connect the city of Camden with Philadelphia.

Q. How much maple sugar was produced in 1920? A. T. L.
A. Maple sugar production in 1920 in the United States was estimated to be 36,375,000 pounds. It was necessary to tap 10,031,325 trees to obtain this amount.

Q. What is the Gulf of Gabon, where the U. S. S. Utah now lies? A. W. P.
A. This gulf lies off the coast of Algeria.

Q. What is relative? G. F. W.
A. Gasoline is a purified, dead, inodorous product of the hydrolysis, by treatment with boiling water, of certain tissue, such as kerosene, kerosene, and kerosene, from sound animals. It contains not more than 2 per cent of ash and not less than 15 per cent of nitrogen.

Q. Who were the first white women to see the Kentucky river? S. S. T.
A. The wife and daughters of Daniel Boone were the first white women to stand on the banks of the Kentucky.

Q. Was the eruption of the volcano that destroyed Pompeii and Herculaneum the greatest eruption in history? D. Z.
A. The greatest volcanic disturbance within the period of human history was an eruption in one of the interior valleys of Savii, Samoan Islands. With a brief rest, this activity, which began in August, 1905, lasted for four years and the discharge of lava has been estimated at more than five cubic miles.

Q. Which is the strongest animal in the world? D. R. O.
A. It is impossible to name the strongest animal since some of the smallest insects have more strength in proportion to their weight than the very largest animals. An ant, for instance, may carry a load many times its own weight, while an elephant could scarcely drag twice its weight.

Q. Is there any particular time that eggs for winter use should be preserved? F. A.
A. While early spring eggs are considered best for preserving in waterglass, hot weather eggs can be preserved in salt.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1922
Astrologers read this as a doubtful day. While Jupiter, Mercury and the Sun are all to benefit aspect part of the day the friendly ruler prevails. Mars and Uranus also exert an evil influence.
It is a day in which there will be a strong impulse toward mental and physical activities that may be thwarted by the sinister power of the stars.
Trade and commerce are subject to a direction that may bring disappointment, since the most sanguine hopes may be unexpectedly disappointed. Although Venus is in a place apparently promising to lovers, they should be cautious lest their most disappointment, for sinister signs betoken deception and inconsistency.
It will be recalled that since the beginning of the new year, as well as previous to it, the seeds of discord in theaters and other places where crowds assemble. They now give warning again that railway disasters are forecast.
Uranus, the fourth denoted floods and high tides on the eastern coast. Tidal waves on the lower meridian in the 55th degree of west longitude are prognosticated.
Famine and grave troubles in Persia and Mesopotamia are to continue, owing to the conjunction of the Moon and Saturn.
China, which focuses world interest, may suffer revolutionary troubles, owing to the fact that Uranus is on the meridian.
While there will be a strong illumination toward love-making, while this conjunction prevails, it is well to beware of hasty conclusions, when Uranus is in threatening mood.
Divorces and scandals are to multiply all through this year. If the stars be read aright, and they will affect persons in every walk of life.

Dinner Stories

The archbishop had preached a fine sermon on the beauties of married life. Two old Irish women coming out of the church were heard commenting upon his address.
"Tis a fine sermon his reverence would be after givin' us," said Bridget.
"It is indeed," replied Maggie, "and I wish I knew as little about the matter as he does."

A lady noted for her happy wit was talking one day at a tea about the art of matrimony.
"To flatter a girl," she said, "the direct compliment should be rarely used. It is too knock-down in its effect. Like a sledge hammer, you know."
"The indirect, the delicate compliment succeeds much better. For example, a young man should never tell a girl she has pretty legs. The girl kept satisfactorily, provided they are fresh and fertile and placed in storage."

Don't Let Late Frost Kill Your Crops or Flowers

Winter will break soon. The danger to crops or to flowers is that they will be killed off by a late frost of night.

All frost protection methods, from the old-fashioned straw mulch, can be carried on more successfully if the cause of frost is known. The cause of frost is the way the earth's surface cools at night and the factors which influence the rate of cooling.

You may not know what temperature and humidity, and the various blossoms, or fruit. Those temperatures differ. You may not know how to protect your crops from frost which would occur if no protective measures were taken.

Any farmer can secure the government booklet on frost and means of guarding against frost damage. This is a free publication. Our Washington Information Bureau will secure copies for all who clip out and mail the coupon below. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage, and be sure to write your name and address clearly on the lines of the coupon.

Frederic J. Haskin, Director, The Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

I enclose herewith two cents in stamps for return postage on a free copy of the Frost Booklet.

The teacher had been explaining fractions to her class. When she had discussed the subject at length, wishing to see how much light had been shed, she inquired:

"Now, Bobby, which would you rather have, an apple or two halves?"
The little chap promptly replied: "Two halves."

"Oh, Bobby," exclaimed the young woman, a little disappointed, "why would you prefer two halves?"
"Because then I could see if it was bad inside."

WHAT HAS COME BEFORE. George Morton goes to work at the home of Planter, a rich man, when his father loses all his property—a living business. George becomes a horse trainer and as a part of the job acts as groom to Sylvia Planter when she goes to school. He is thrown from her horse and thinking her unconscious, George kisses her, calling out that he loves her. She drives him from the place and George threatens her brother, who goes to her house, but in a fair fight, he seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Bailey, a tutor, gets a place on the football team and aids his college in those terms. He makes many acquaintances, it has determined that Sylvia Planter shall marry him and many mistakes ensue. Each time each time seems widening the breach between them. But he continues in the determination to win her. He is very kind to George, and at her home, meets her friend, Sylvia, which is embarrassing.

(Continued from yesterday.) "I have to have money," Dalrymple acknowledged. "Then you ought to have sense enough to know that you think I'd care if they held you in this country for your silly debts? What you borrow you have to pay back in one way or another. Don't make any mistakes. If you give me money I'll be able to make you pay as I please. You've always had a knife out for me. I don't mind putting one in my own hands. If you want money on those terms, Saturday afternoon, we'll see what can be done."

Dalrymple was quite white. He moistened his lips. As he left he muttered:

"I can't answer back. I have to have money. You've got me where you want."

VII. Dalrymple's necessities turned out to be greater than George had imagined. They measured pretty accurately the extent of his reformation. George got several notes to run a year in return for approximately twenty thousand dollars.

"Remember," he said at the close of the transaction, "you pay those back when and how I say."

"It wouldn't have come to you if I could have helped it," Dalrymple whined. "But don't forget, Morton, somebody will pull me out at a pinch. I'm going to work to pay you if I live. I'm through with nonsense. Give me a chance."

George nodded him out, and sent for his lawyer. In case of his death Dalrymple's notes would go back to the man. Everything else he had divided between his mother and the Blacks. To write his mother a letter, telling her just what to do. Quite honestly he regretted his inability to get West to say good-bye. The thought of bringing her to New York or Upton had not occurred to him.

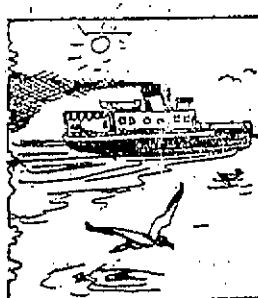

For during these days of farewells, everyone flocked to Upton, sitting about the hostess house all day and

WHEELMAN SERIAL

IN TROPIC WATERS

THIRD EPISODE
A VILLAIN'S VILLAINY

SYNOPSIS—
MAL CHANCE IS WRECKED ON AN ISLE IN THE SOUTH SEAS. MILDRED COMES HIS FIANCEE. WANTS IN VAN FOR WORD FROM HIM. HER FATHER, AN OLD MILLIONAIRE, NOW FINDS HIMSELF IN THE CLUTCHES OF BRADFORD FOX, A SCHEMING LAWYER, WHO WISHES TO MARRY MILDRED.

With the whispered word that there would be no more meetings at Officers' House, that before dawn the regiment would have slipped from Upton, George turned to his packing with the emotions of a violently excited animal. He wouldn't even think of going to the house of his father. When Lambert came to confer with him about some final dispositions he watched him like such an animal, but Lambert let him see that he, too, was at a loss. He couldn't get to Officers' house that evening.

"I couldn't make it any plainer. If they've any sense they'll know and hurt me even worse than this."

They were wise, and a little of George's strain relaxed, for they found Lambert in his quarters, and they made it clear that they had come to say good-bye to George. After many halting efforts they gave up trying to express themselves.

"The Spartans were better at this sort of thing," Bailey said at the last as he clasped George's hand.

"Every man I kill or capture, sir, I'll think of as your man."

Without words, without tears, Mrs. Bailey kissed his lips. George tried to laugh.

Betty wouldn't say good-bye, wouldn't even shake hands. "I shan't think of killing," she said. "Just take care of yourselves, and come back."

George stared at her, alarmed. He had never seen her so white. Lambert followed her from the house. Then he turned to George and said: "Why did Mrs. Planter linger? There she stood near the door, looking at George with the slightest betrayal of feeling. He had an impression she was going to say something."

"At least she held Sylvia a moment longer, Sylvia who had said nothing, who had not met his eyes, who had seemed from the first anxious to escape from his plans, from his life with the paraphernalia of battle. Mrs. Planter held out her hand, smiling. "Good-bye, Major. One doesn't need to say good-bye."

Never since he had walked out of the great gate with Sylvia's dog at his heels to a wild uttering of his body and his mind, had he felt such untrammelled emotion, to so unbounded a desire. The moment of parting, in which he had felt himself hopeless, had spent it all away—his carefully planned manner, the sophisticated schooling of an impulsive brain, the minute effort to resemble the class of which he had imagined himself a part. Temporarily he was back at the starting point, the George Morton who had lifted Sylvia in his arms, blurring out impossible words, staring at her lips with an abrupt and narrow realization that sooner or later he would have to touch them.

Sylvia's quick action brought some of it back, but he had no remembrance of roars, for the moment itself was ratted, inimical to masquerade.

RECIPES FOR THE DAY
Molasses Cookies—One cup of brown sugar, one cup of shortening, one egg, one cup of molasses, one tablespoon of cinnamon and ginger, one tablespoon of baking soda, half a teaspoon of salt, one-half cup boiling water, flour to make soft dough.

Brown Sugar Cookies—Two cups brown sugar, one cup shortening, one-half cup sour milk (full), two eggs, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, a little nutmeg and salt, flour to roll soft. Sugar Cookies—One scant cup of butter, one heaping cup sugar, two eggs, eight tablespoons of milk, one-half teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, flour to roll soft.

Fried Chicken—Clean, singe and cut in pieces for serving two young birds. Plunge in cold water, drain but do not wipe. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and coat thickly with flour, having as much flour adhere to chicken as possible. Try to build a point of fat salt crust cut in pieces, or use equal parts of lard and butter for the frying. Cook the chicken slowly in the hot fat until tender and well browned. Serve with a gravy made after removing the chicken from the pan, usually milk and half cream. If older fowl is used, cook until nearly tender, then dip in the flour and brown in the hot fat. Use the stock in which the chicken was cooked in making the gravy. The rest can be used for soup at a later time.

SUGGESTIONS
Did you ever try the experiment of having a large flower pot or window box containing parsley, poppygrass and other greens that add flavor to meats, soups and other dishes? Such a miniature kitchen garden need not be at all unattractive. You may even grow the herbs and flowering greens may be as attractive to the eye as ivy, impatiens or other greens grown only for appearance.

The important thing in flavorings of this sort is to have them always on hand. In a small family a bunch of parsley is as you buy at the green grocer's is for the most part unused. You don't want a little, and you often do not think of getting it until it is too late.

Many housewives make good use of various sorts of pickled relishes in flavoring meats, soups and salads in winter. A tablespoon of tomato relish adds flavor and piquancy to a salad dressing or soup. Pepper or onion pickles may be added to advantage to many sorts of meat dishes.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

WHO PUSHED THE EARTH AWAY.

Tinker Bob was the happiest King in the world. He stood by the side of the largest creature in the world and he was able to tap the Stone Of Knowledge and see him taken up above the tree tops was the most wonderful thing he had ever accomplished. Silky was happy too. The thing that made him happy was the appearance of the King again on the river bank. For, as he said, "I don't know the thoughts of Tinker Bob, and it might be that he was going to leave Tinker forever—or rather Tinker would leave him. That thought worried Silky. But everything changed when he saw the King and him, the little elephant, on the river bank.

"Tinker Bob was anxious to make creatures of the great Jungle happy, for that was what he did while in the forest where Major Pelt Cat and Chief Porky were. Well, he gave Mr. Johnny Elephant one of the happiest moments of his life when the Creature Of His Desire lifted him up above the trees. At first he was frightened, then he was surprised and at last he was glad.

"Crumph," said he. "I thought I was so big that no one could lift me from the ground. My mother told me that a little child that I would always have to be satisfied for I never could fly like a bird. But there are wonderful things that my mother never knew anything about. Oh, how I love to be lifted. I don't believe yet that I was lifted from the ground. I think I stood still and the earth was pushed away."

"Crumph," said Mrs. Elephant. "I can tell you how it was done. You can't fool me. The earth was not pushed away from you. It was pushed away from the ground. I think I stood still and the earth was pushed away."

Caubuseno, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Caubuseno, N. Y.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a kinked look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Milton College Gymnasium, Milton—Evansville and Milton Union high schools play at 8 p. m. Thursday for the championship of the annual Milton college high school invitation basketball tournament. These two teams went through the first day of the meet defeating their opponents by overwhelming scores.

The winners of the Edgerton-Jefferson and Port Atkinson-Oregon game Thursday afternoon will play at 7 p. m. for the second place. Evansville showed up so well Wednesday that the Out-Of-City team looks as the dope showed the probable winner. In defeating Stoughton Wednesday afternoon, Coach Edwards' only second string men, keeping his best players on the bench for later battles.

W. S. Miller, Waukesha and "Pete" Lanphere, Milton colleges, alternated as referee and umpire.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

No decision has yet been made at Janesville high school, whether there will be a baseball team this spring. There should be. When a nine is put upon the diamond not only the student body but the entire city should give it wholehearted support. Some trouble was experienced last year in procuring uniforms. If the matter were put up to the citizens of Janesville, there would be "nois." The town is proud of its high school athletes and is ready to give them every support.

Baseball is one game which should be built up in high schools. It requires the best there is in a lad physically and mentally. It is an all around developer of manhood.

WILLARD QUINNOR, Milton—(Answer to query)—Heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey has not fought Frank Moran since he won the title from Jess Willard at Toledo, July 4, 1917 with a knockout in three rounds. Here is Dempsey's record since he won the belt:

Mar. 5—Terry Keller, exhibition, Los Angeles.
Sept. 6—Billy Miske, Benton Harbor, KO.
Oct. 2—Two sparring rounds.
Denver, Col., KO.
Dec. 14—Bill Brennan, New York, KO.
1921
July 2—Georges Carpentier, New York, KO.

LaCrosse's answer to Oshkosh's challenge to a three game series to decide the normal season is one game on a neutral floor, either at Whitewater or Madison. One game is not a fair way to decide.

Melvin Harbert, six year old son of E. R. Harbert, professional at the Madison, Ind. Country club, is an infant prodigy. With a straight swing that sends the ball on a straight course, his shots are so well timed that his wooden clubs give him as much as 100 yards from the tee, nearly half the distance of expert players. If he keeps it up, he will enter the class of Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet and Bobby Jones, all "boy wonders" in their early days.

From Frank Heath, Fond du Lac sport scribe, the information comes that the Milwaukee Bright Spots may move to Fond du Lac. The reason is the marvelous support given the game there by the fans. "I never saw anything like it in all my experience and I have played basketball for years," says Fred O'Connor, manager of the Spots.

"Bud" Crook, who caught for a while with the Janesville Tractors last season, has signed with the Dubuque team of the new Mississippi valley league.

A correspondent says: "I see they say Janesville is a Milwaukee home referring to Janesville. Tell 'em we have lots of 'Janes' here but no 'Nans'."

Wesley Dick, Kern, formerly of the Beloit Braves, no longer is the midge of the White Sox. He is 15 pounds lighter than Jess Adams—145 to 160.

Carl Mays, Yankee pitcher, signed his contract.

North Carolina university won the college basketball title of the south, defeating Mercer university, 10 to 26.

Johnny Layton retained three cushion billiard title, defeating Alfred De Oro, 150 to 135 in 261 innings.

Highest five man mark so far in A. B. C. pin meet at Toledo is 2,595; doubles 1,165; singles 581.

Art Shimmers and Borzell, Milwaukee A. C., remain in A. A. C. handball meet at Detroit.

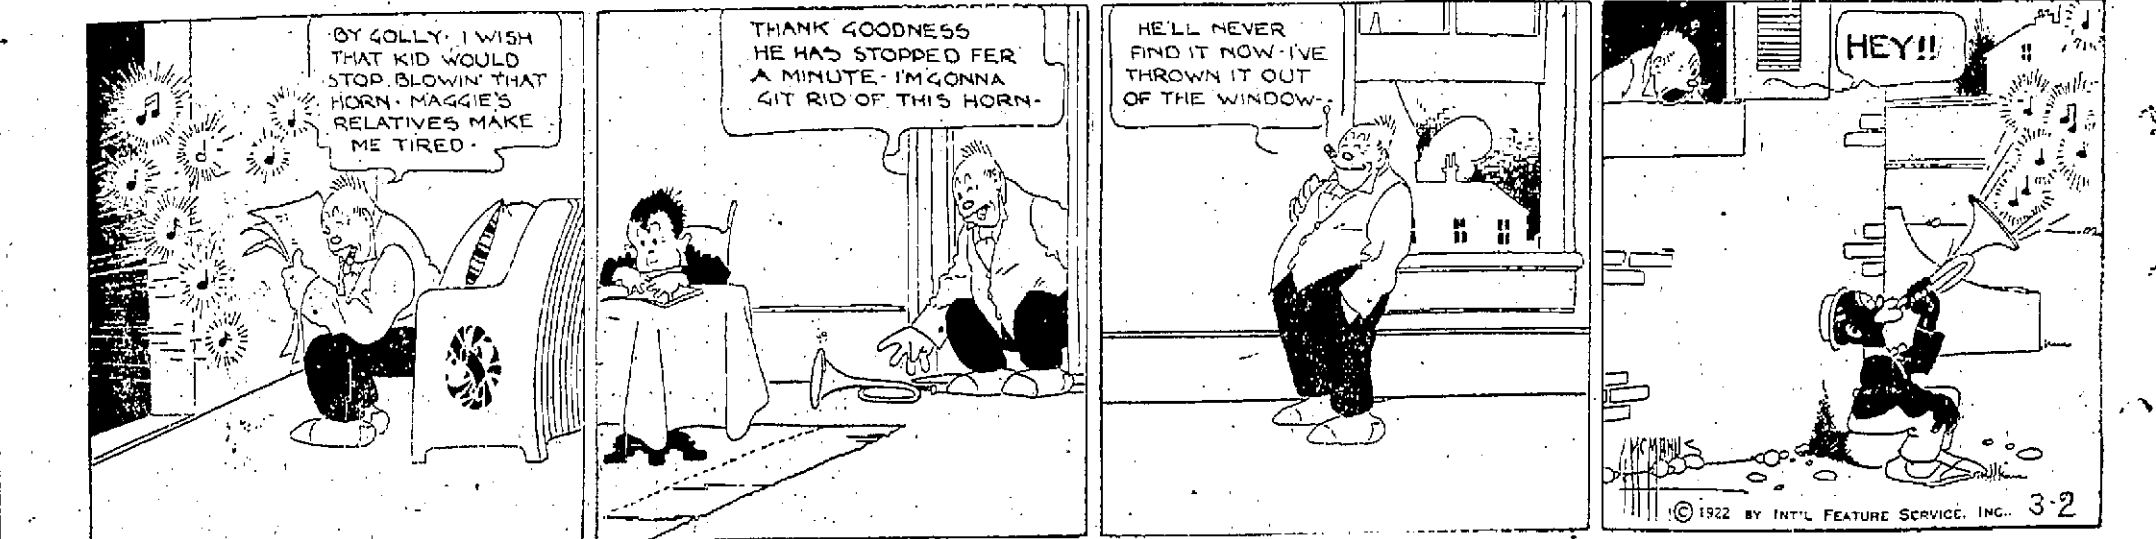

Training talks were given in major league camps Wednesday.

Gleason's White Sox curled up under blankets at Sequin, Tex.

Rain halted practice of the St. Louis Cards at Orange, Tex.

Below freezing weather greeted the Giants at San Antonio.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Janesville Becoming Feeder for Milwaukee

By FRANK SINCLAIR

Janesville as a feeder for the boxing clubs of Milwaukee? How does that sound?

It's getting to look that way. For years Bobby Ward of St. Paul and formerly of Beloit tried to break into the Cream City. Not until he defeated Norman Benz, the Batter-nut brawler here, did he get his chance.

Mei Coogan came on from Brooklyn, N. Y., and sought to get on a card in Milwaukee. It was not until he had signed with Otto Wallace, who he defeated in Janesville, did he get his chance.

Kick has opportunity. And now along comes Frankie Kick of Rockford. This junior lightweight has been confined most of the time to the Forest city. He would like to take a run up to Milwaukee and try out the ropes there. If he beats Jimmy Muzzy on the Mar. 9 card of the Janesville Elks Athletic club at the Coliseum rink here, he may get his chance. So say all the wise ones of the game.

Kick made a good impression with the punishment he administered to Al Dale, Kansas city, in the semi-finals of the Jan. 26 card of the local boxing company. In Muzzy, however, he will be an against perhaps the fastest right handed slugger of his career. He will have to do some agile fancy stepping and a bit of infighting to put the Wisconsin junior lightweight champ out of the way.

Muzzy Junior Champ

Muzzy, a follower of the Mitchell's, has victories over Matty Smith, Matty McCue, Billy Kautz, Joe Dawson, Chick Benick, Frankie Callahan, Morry Henderson, Teddy Murphy and K. O. Mueller. He is a better boy than Benz. The fact that he has won from Dawson is "tough said."

On a comparative basis, remember that Dawson defeated Johnny Mendelsohn.

Matty Smith was formerly looked upon as the junior lightweight Cook of the Roost of Wisconsin. Muzzy disposed of him in 20 seconds of the first round with a KO in Milwaukee a year ago.

Roy Meyers has not yet signed for a match with Jack Keating of Rockford, according to the latest dope.

Tickets for the fights will be on sale shortly.

Children! Ask Daddy for a Piano With Pedals You Can Reach

Show him how little pleasure you get from playing. If he plays—or if Mother does—ask him to make this test:

Block up the pedals of the piano with books, so they cannot be used. Then let him try to play. What a monotonous strumming! Might almost as well beat on a wooden block. Probably he will quickly stop in disgust.

But that is the way you must play. For you cannot reach the pedals. You cannot give expression to the music.

Always the Same

Over and over, you must play finger exercises. Of course, that is a fine thing. It is very necessary. Only in that way can you ever learn to play well.

Sometimes, though, you would like a change. You would take more interest with a few pretty pieces. Pieces that bring out delicate shades of tone or demand the full power of the piano. You would like to play the way grown-ups do.

Play Like an Artist

And now you can! You can play like a real artist on the beautiful Lyon & Healy Piano, equipped with the Junior Unfolding Two-Level Pedal.

This Junior Pedal looks just like the ordinary pedal. But it opens out to a higher level. There you can easily reach it. In a short time you can learn to play the piano properly—with the pedals. You can play the imaginative pieces you like so much. Practicing will become a joy.

No matter how fine a piano you have now, it is not much good to you. But Daddy can trade it in, at a very moderate cost, on a Lyon & Healy Piano, whose exquisite voice "sings beneath the fingers." Then you will be able to use the pedals. You will have a piano of supreme quality that you all can enjoy.

Come and Try It

Tell Daddy to ask us what the greatest pianists say about the Junior Pedal. Have him—or Mother—bring you to our store to try it. We'd like to have you play one of these beautiful pianos. If they can't come, have them phone or write for our free illustrated folder.

PERCY GRAINGER

"Every child should begin to use the pedal as soon as it begins to play. Your Junior Pedal should be used universally."

Cushing Wins Billiard Title

Dick Cushing, representing the Black Cat parlors, is the city pocket billiard champion of Janesville. He will next meet the champion of Beloit and the winner of that match will compete in the state meet.

Cushing, runner up for the title a year ago, annexed the laurels by defeating Francis Deane, 99 to 128, Wednesday night. The match was played in two periods of 100 points each. In the first at the Black Cat, Cushing came out in the lead, 125 to 105. Deane came back in a great display in the second stretch. He missed a hard shot by a hair's breadth and Cushing capped.

A large gallery saw the match. Deane had two runs of 15 and Cushing three of 11.

R. F. Bs. Off to Big Meet

The R. F. Bs. Janesville's entry in the Central A. A. U. 155-pound basketball tournament at Chicago, play their opening game against the Auburn Park A. C. at 8:15 Thursday night. The team that will start with Dawson, K. Dick, C. Dick, Manogue and Hager. The subs are Cannon, former Madison Cardinal; Raubacher and Cullen.

In practice Wednesday, the R. F. Bs. upset the high school by one point. Coach McDonald will guide the team through the meet. If they win the first game, they play again at 9 p. m. The score Wednesday was 25-24. At the half, it was 15-12 and at the third quarter, 17 all. Dick and Cannon starred for the R. F. Bs. and Clark for the Blues.

A report on the Chicago game will be received by the Gazette at 9 p. m.
